

Is Santa's 'elf' and safety up to scratch? Masterlease

Has his driving licence been checked to see if he can drive a sleigh? Also has he clocked up any endorsements?

How about regular eyesight checks?

Is his load of presents properly secured and not blocking his view?

Does he have breakdown assistance?

What about all those sherries that are left out for him?

Overloading – with billions of children to visit in one go, his sleigh must be riding way too low.

What's his annual mileage? He may make only one trip a year but it's a flipping long one.

Does he have a high visibility vest and warning triangle just in case he breaks down in Europe?

Who loaded the presents? That's a lot of weight... Does he employ proper manual handling processes?

Does he have a tachograph fitted and does he take regular breaks?

Has he checked the reindeers' hooves for grip? It will be tricky to park on snowy roofs if they are slick!

Does he carry a spare reindeer just in case?

Is he insured for driving abroad?
